Whānau carers

At Geneva Health, we understand that no one knows your loved one better than you do. That's why we offer the option for family members or trusted friends to become paid whānau carers – allowing your loved one to receive the support they need from someone they know and trust.

As a whānau carer, you'll be supported by our experienced team with training, guidance, and access to resources that help you deliver quality care at home. This approach honours the strength of whānau connections while making sure both the carer and the person receiving care feel supported and valued.

If you'd like to learn more about becoming a whānau carer, or how we can support your family to explore this option, get in touch today.
